

CENTRE FOR INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

THE INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW REVIEW

CALL FOR PAPERS VOL. I

The Centre for Intellectual Property under the aegis of the National University of Advanced Legal Studies welcomes submissions for the first volume of the Intellectual Property Law Review. With the objective to make meaningful contributions to the field, we encourage our authors to explore contemporary issues and areas often overlooked relating to intellectual property law and policy.

The Intellectual Property Law Review is a student-edited, peer-reviewed, double blind and open access journal. We invite contributions from practitioners in the legal profession, undergraduate and post-graduate students, researchers and academicians in the form of articles, essays, notes, commentaries and reviews.

NATURE OF SUBMISSIONS:

- Articles: (5000 – 7000 words)
- Essays: (3000 – 5000 words)
- Notes, Comments and Reviews: (1000 – 3000 words)

These word limits are inclusive of footnotes.
