On the afternoon of 16th December, 2014, I was returning home from my college at Rabodi to my home at Vitthalwadi. As I was passing through the road opposite a wine shop by the name of Himalaya Wines, a man, aged between 35 and 40 years stopped me and asked me to read an address from a piece of paper. When I started reading the address, I felt a little dizzy. At that moment that man grabbed my hand and tried to forcefully pull me into an auto rickshaw. I started screaming and pushed him away. He fell on the ground. I started running towards my home.

After reaching, I narrated the incident to my mother. My mother immediately took me to the nearby police station and informed the police about this incident.

My statement has been recorded in Marathi and explained to me and it is in accordance to what I have stated.
