Chanderprabhu Jain College of Higher Studies and School of Law is striving for excellence. Most successful men have achieved distinction by not being presented with some new talent or opportunity. They rather developed and optimally utilized the opportunity that was at hand and this is the motto of our Institute - to prepare our students for grabbing available opportunities and creating new prospects. We, at CPJ College of Higher Studies & School of Law, inculcate amongst students a spirit to strive and achieve the desired goals. Education is very important amongst all of us and it is a fact which cannot be denied by anybody. With an ever increasing competition in all the sectors, it has become inevitable for an individual to acquire knowledge beyond the bookish ones. ## EVENTS OF “LOI FIESTA”

National Seminar

Topic: Clean India, Green India: Issues & Challenges

Once John May said-“when the last tree is cut & the last fish killed, the last river poisoned, and then you will see that you can't eat money.”

It took about 60000 years for the human population to grow to one billion. It took a little more than two centuries only to grow from one billion to eight billion. Growing population requires environmental resources (life support systems like air, water and soil) for its survival and sustenance. Accordingly the pressure on environmental resources has grown many folds during last two centuries. This pressure has also impacted the climate as well as weather condition. Whenever we undertake any activity we always utilize energy in some form or other. As a result the carbon stored in the energy source is released to the atmosphere in the form of carbon dioxide. That indicates our carbon footprint. The more severe is the footprint, the more impact will be there on weather and climate locally and globally.

India has a population of over one billion of which almost 300 million live in around 600 towns & cities. Unfortunately as a result of stressed environmental conditions most of these towns & cities are unable to cope with the rapid pace of urbanization. The situation demands immediate intervention in the management of rapidly growing urban environmental problems. The quality of the environment needs to be monitored regularly. In this reference CLEAN-India (Community Led Environment Action Network) programme was launched with a vision of developing cleaner environment for urban centres. The nation-wide programme aims to mobilise community responsibility for environmental assessment and improvement in all major towns and cities of India through schools and NGOs linked with governments, business, academic and other institutions with tag line that- “each one of us is responsible for the current state of our environment & we cannot wait for someone else to solve it.”

Swachh Bharat is a campaign recently announced by our PM NARENDRA MODI with SLOGAN: Swachh Bharath is not Modi's task it is people's task. This campaign is for the clean environment and for a clean India tomorrow. If we clean India we get a green and healthy India. But as we all know it is not going to be as easy as it appears on papers, we all have to face so many challenges for the implementation of this type of policies. That's why Chanderprabhu Jain College of Higher Studies & School of Law is going to organize a national seminar on Clean India, Green India: Issues & Challenges.

Sub themes:

1. Environmental pollution monitoring
2. Environmental policies in India
3. Sustainable Development
4. Role of common people in making pollution free state
5. Reuse & recycling of resources
6. Social analysis of CLEAN-India policy
7. Analysis of current Laws regarding environment
8. Waste Management

National Quiz Competition

A quiz is a form of game or mind sport in which the players (as individuals or in teams) attempt to answer questions correctly. In some countries, a quiz is also a brief assessment used in education and similar fields to measure growth in knowledge, abilities, and/or skills. Quizzes are usually scored in points and many quizzes are designed to determine a winner from a group of participants - usually the participant with the highest score.

The quiz will comprise of different questions extracted from different subjects and topics such as Economics and Law (LOC, IPC, Legal English, and Indian Constitution), social science and general knowledge (sports, facts, trivia, current events, entertainment, music, and the like).

National Debate Competition

Topic: Imposing green tax is the only solution to safeguard environment

Debaters have been proven to become leaders and successful professionals. Countless corporate executives, influential lawyers, wealthy entrepreneurs and elected officials credit their debate experience in college with making them successful. The anecdotal evidence is overwhelming and suggests some of the following benefits.

- Debaters become better critical thinkers and communicators. People begin to see them in a different way.
- Debaters improve their social interactions. Debaters are not argumentative with their family and friends, but oddly enough, more understanding.
- Debaters improve their personal expression. There seems to be something in us as human being which wants to express ourselves. Their voices are heard.
- Debaters are more often seen as leaders. Studies in America show that those who communicate often and well, and give a balance of positive and negative comments, are seen as leaders. Leadership is given, not taken. Debaters are more likely to be given leadership.
- Debaters tend to become citizens in the real sense of the world - informed, active, participating, a force to be harnessed for the betterment of all.

National Legal Drafting Competition

Legal education and legal profession have been held in high esteem throughout the world since time memorial. Undisputedly legal education has a cardinal role to play in the matter of ensuring legal justice to the citizens. Herein lays the pivotal role of law colleges and law schools. The last few decades have witnessed the due importance being given to legal education in India. An element of professionalism is writ large in the contemporary legal education in India.

The legal drafting competition aims to provide this opportunity. By this competition, an effort will be made to tap the drafting ability of the students. In this competition, a legal problem will be given to the participants along with the research material. The participants will have to draft the case within the stipulated time. These written submissions will then be judged by a panel of judges and marked.

National Client Counseling Competition

The Competition simulates a law office consultation in which two law students, acting as lawyers (attorneys/solicitors/legal practitioners), are presented with a client matter. The students are given a brief written memorandum that identifies the general nature of the subject-matter of the client's problem (e.g., that a client wants advice about a problem arising from the construction of a house, that the client is facing a shoplifting charge, etc.) before the interviews are held. The students conduct an interview with a person playing the role of the client. Students are expected to elicit the relevant information from the client, explore with the client his or her preferred outcome, outline the nature of the problem, and present the client with a means (or range of alternatives, if appropriate) for resolving the problem. The interview with the client is then followed by a post-consultation period during which the students, in the absence of the client, analyze the interview and discuss the legal and other work to be undertaken. The interview and post-consultation period last a total of 45 minutes. The students are evaluated by a panel of judges, usually composed of two lawyers and a counselor (e.g., social or welfare worker, psychologist, or another person with extensive experience in counseling). The inclusion of a non-lawyer counselor on the judging panel is designed to broaden the interdisciplinary perspectives of the panel both in terms of skills and possible solutions to a problem. The students are evaluated against specific criteria that emphasize the use of listening, questioning, planning, and analytical skills in a lawyer/client interview. Once the judges have completed their evaluation of the interview, the students are called back in and the judges provide a brief critique of the team's handling of the consultation and post-consultation periods.

National Moot Court Competition

For details and Moot Proposition, kindly refer the rules section at Page no. 19 - 21

National Legal Essay Writing Competition

To write perfect essays, students need to first master the art of legal writing; which is the ability to write only what is necessary in as few words as possible and omitting anything that is not relevant. Getting in the habit of writing this way will leave you the time and space needed to address other relevant issues and thus gain more points. By write an essay - students learn to express themselves in a more logical way, and also they develop their writing skills, their vocabulary and their own writing style. And all that is not an oral activity. By writing simple essays students can grow to be a very talented and creative writer or speaker, or logical thinker or whatever. The National Legal Essay Writing Competition will provide a Nation-Wide platform to the law students to express their skills of creative writing, logical thinking and presentation of their ideas on a particular topic. The topics / themes of National Legal Essay Writing Competition will be announced 15 minutes prior to the commencement of the competition.

Rules for National Client Counseling Competition

Rule 1: Entry into the competition

(a) Composition of the Team; Eligible Students; and Past Entrants and Winners.

Participating colleges are eligible to enter one team composed of two law students. Students conduct the simulated interviews in teams of two in order to provide mutual assistance and support in researching, planning and conducting the interview. There is the added benefit of encouraging students to work cooperatively.

(b) Observers. Persons from colleges interested in organizing client counseling programs and others are encouraged to observe the Competition.

Rule 2: The consultation situations; competition topic; applicable law; fees; team letters; rounds; faculty advisors/team coaches; preparation; and dress.

(a) Competition Topic. A Competition topic (e.g., contracts, intentional torts, human rights, etc.) will be designated by the International Committee prior to the Competition. All consultation situations will be based on this topic. Each consultation situation, however, will involve a different client and a different situation.

(b) Fees. The discussion of fees is an integral part of any first consultation between a lawyer and a client. Students should be judged on how they approach this problem, but not on the monetary amount used. The participants may discuss fees at any appropriate point in the consultation. Fees may be waived or suitably reduced only in cases of financial hardship, either for persons of low income or for persons of ordinary income faced with very large fees. Furthermore, in view of the comparative complexities involved and the fact that some jurisdictions do not fully address them, the teams and judges should assume that any money laundering (and any other similar) regulations have been met for the purposes of the competition and should not be covered in the interview.

(c) Assignment of Team Letters. All teams will be pre-assigned a letter designation (A, B, C, etc.) by the Competition organizer on a random basis.

(d) Rounds. A round consists of two or three teams (depending on the number of teams competing) conducting interviews with the same client. Based on the skills demonstrated in light of the Assessment Criteria, the judges then rank the teams. All teams participate in the preliminary rounds. The top-ranking teams may then compete in a Semi-Final Round or go directly to the Final (Championship) Round, depending on the number of teams in the Competition. Winners of the Semi-Final Round compete in the Final (Championship) Round.

(e) Dress Code - Formal & Legal attire

Rule 3: the consultation and post-consultation; general format; time limits and time keeping; and use of materials and props.

- (a) Maximum Time Limit for the Session. Each team shall have a maximum of forty-five (45) minutes to complete the session. This session must include both a consultation session with the client and a post-consultation.
- (b) The Consultation with the Client. Each team must conduct a consultation with the client during which the students are expected to elicit the relevant information, outline the problem, and propose options for resolving the problem. Team members are entirely free to decide how they will divide their work, but both students must consult with the client as a team and their plan is subject to judging. The students may wish during their post-consultation presentation to explain why they worked together in the way that they did.
- (c) The Post-Consultation. Each team must also conduct a meaningful post-consultation discussion between the attorneys after the client has left the room. During this post-consultation, the students may either talk to each other loudly enough to be overheard by the judges or dictate a file memorandum on the interview or both. The post-consultation performance may summarize the interview, indicate the scope of the legal work to be undertaken, and state the legal issues that should be researched. Explanation of the position or attitude taken by the students may be useful. The students may also feel that documentation is appropriate. For example, they may want to write a letter to the client confirming their retention as attorneys, the fee arrangement, etc. It also may be appropriate for the students at the conclusion of this consultation to compose a letter to opposing counsel or to the party with whom the client is having legal problems. Such a document may be dictated at this time.
- (d) Division of Time between the Consultation and Post-Consultation; Timekeeping. The student competitors will not be provided with timekeepers. They are responsible for keeping track of their time. However, one of the judges on each panel should be selected to keep track of the time for the judges. Under no circumstance will a team be allowed more than forty-five (45) minutes to complete the session, including both the consultation and the post-consultation. The timekeeper judge shall stop students after forty-five (45) minutes regardless of where students are in the consultation or post-consultation process. The decision of the timekeeper judge as to when the round should end is final. The timekeeper judge should use the Judges' Timekeeping Sheet to record the time each session begins and ends to assure that the timekeeping was accurate. In determining a team's score, the judges shall consider the way the team allocated its time and, if applicable, the team's failure to include a meaningful post-consultation session.
- (e) Use of Materials and Props. During the consultation and post-consultation, the team may use books, notes, and other materials. The team may also use office props (computers, Dictaphones, files, desktop furnishings, etc.). The Competition organizer will endeavor to provide water and facial tissues on the desk.

Rule 4: Judges' critique and ranking of teams observed.

- (a) Content and Timing of the Critique. Except in the final round, immediately following each team's post-consultation presentation, the judges should provide the team with a critique of the team's handling of the consultation and post-consultation periods. This critique should focus on the Assessment Criteria. The critique should last no more than fifteen (15) minutes.
- (b) Client Not to Be Present. Clients should not be present during the post-consultation period or the critique.
- (c) Judges' Discussion of Each Team's Performance; Consulting with the Client Prior to Ranking; and the Awarding of Points to the Teams Observed by Judges at the End of the Round. After the judges have observed all teams, the judges should discuss each team's performance among themselves. Judges are encouraged to consult with the client. Although the judges will discuss the performance of the teams, the judges will individually rank the teams.

Rule 5: Advancing to the semi-final round; the semi-final round; and advancing to the final (championship) round.

- (a) Point Qualification Format. The Competition uses a “point qualification” format in which teams accumulating the lowest number of points in the preliminary rounds will qualify either for (1) the Semi-Final Round or (2) the Final (Championship) Round if there are fewer than 12 teams in the Competition.
- (b) Number and Sequence of Preliminary Rounds. The host institution will provide a minimum of two preliminary rounds in which all teams will compete. At the host's and the Competition Problem Drafting/Review/Topic Committee's discretion, a third preliminary round may be provided for all teams. These rounds may be run simultaneously or consecutively.
- (c) Qualifying for the Semi-Final Round. At the end of the preliminary rounds, the total scores for each team will be computed.
- (d) Ties after the Preliminary Rounds. In case of ties, the following procedure will be followed. If teams otherwise qualified to advance after the Preliminary Rounds are tied, the Competition Organizer shall determine the teams for the Semi-Final Round by eliminating all teams (among the tied teams) that had lost in head-to-head competition (e.g., assume that teams A and B are tied for the last place in the Semi-Final Round; if teams A and B have met in a round in which team A had received a lower (better) score among the judges than team B, team B would be eliminated from the final round). If the teams needed for the Semi-Final Round cannot be determined by this procedure, then the Competition Organizer shall determine by lot (among the remaining tied teams) the teams that will compete in the Semi-Final Round.
- (e) Order of Appearance of Teams in the Semi-Final Round. The Competition Organizer shall determine the order of appearance of the teams in the Semi-Final Round by random draw. The teams with the lowest scores after the preliminary rounds are allowed to choose when they perform in the semi-final round. In case of a tie, the order will be made by a draw.
- (f) Decision of the Judges in the Semi-Final Round; Advancing to the Final (Championship) Round. After the judges in each room have observed all teams in the Semi- Final Round, the judges will discuss each team's performance among themselves.
- (g) Ties among the Judges in the Semi-Final Round. If the teams are tied after the judges in a room in the Semi-Final Round have independently awarded points, the judges shall decide by a majority vote which team performed the best in the room in light of the Assessment Criteria. If the vote does not produce one team to advance, the Competition Organizer shall determine by lot (among the remaining tied teams) the teams that will compete in the Final (Championship) Round.

Rule 6: The Final (Championship) round.

- (a) Order of Appearance of Teams in the Final (Championship) Round. The team with the lowest score after the first three rounds is allowed to choose when it performs in the final round. In case of a tie, the order will be made by a draw.
- (b) Format of the Final Round; Decision by the Judges; Ties; Announcement of the Winner; and Critique. The final round will be in one room with one panel of judges. After the judges have seen all of the teams perform, the judges should discuss each team's performance among themselves. Judges are encouraged to consult with the client. Although the judges should discuss the performance of the teams, the judges should individually rank the teams. Judging independently, each judge must give one (1) point to the one (1) team that performed the best in light of the Assessment Criteria. The team with the lowest number of points is the winner. If the teams are tied after the judges have independently awarded points, the judges shall decide by a majority vote which team performed the best in the room in light of the Assessment Criteria. If the vote does not produce one team as a winner, the Judges shall declare a tie and the tied teams will be co-winners. Following the announcement of the winner, the judges will then comment on the consultations.

Rule 7: Awards.

Each participant in the Competition will receive a certificate to be awarded at the Competition Banquet. The winning team will, in addition, receive a special award.

Rule 8: Counseling Sessions: Attendance and Communication.

- (a) Observing Rounds. Faculty advisors/team coaches may observe their own teams subject to space availability. The team and its faculty advisor/team coach may not observe other teams competing in the preliminary rounds in the Competition. They may observe other rounds if they have been eliminated from the Competition. Persons not associated with any team may observe all rounds, subject to space availability.
- (b) Prohibited Communications. No observer may communicate in any way with any team members during the course of their performance, or with any judge prior to scoring.

Rule 9: Clients.

- (a) Selection of Clients. The Competition organizer is responsible for selecting persons to play the role of the client for each of the sessions. If a team from the host law school is taking part in the Competition, a law student from the host school shall not act as a client in any session in which the host law school team will conduct the interview. If use of such a law student is unavoidable, the host law school team must forfeit.
- (b) Orientation for Clients. Hosts are strongly encouraged to conduct an orientation for the clients in advance of the date of Competition. Each client will be supplied with a packet containing the consultation situation and a detailed confidential memorandum concerning the client's background and concerns.
- (c) Client Briefing. The Organizer Committee will provide a Client Briefing prior to the Rounds.
- (d) Availability after the Round to Talk with Judges. Clients should plan to be available at the conclusion of a round to discuss the consultations with the judges.

Moot Proposition for National Moot Court Competition

The present environmental problems in Delhi, India, are a threat to the well-being of the city's and area's inhabitants as well as the flora and fauna. Delhi, the sixth-most populated metropolis in the world, is one of the most heavily polluted cities in India, having for instance one of the country's highest volumes of particulate matter pollution. In May 2014 the World Health Organization announced New Delhi is the most polluted city in the world.

Overpopulation and the ensuing overuse of scarce resources such as water put heavy pressure on the environment. The city suffers from air pollution caused by road dust and industry, with comparatively smaller contributions from unclean engines in transportation, especially diesel-powered city buses and trucks, and 2-wheelers and 3-wheelers with two-stroke engines. Besides human and environmental damage, pollution has caused economic damage as well.

On April 8, this year, picking up several points brought out in the 'Death by Breath' series, an ongoing investigation by on the quality of air in Delhi, the Delhi Green Tribunal (DGT) had issued a fresh ban on all diesel vehicles more than 5 years old from plying in the National Capital Region. A day after that, the Delhi government came up with a unique order of the era whereby the vehicles with odd and even registration numbers will be allowed on alternate days from January 01, 2016. The CP School of Environmental studies, Delhi was plying the school buses running on diesel purchased in 2005 for school purposes and coincidentally all the buses were of the odd number series. This order of the Delhi government proved to be the last nail in the coffin for the school.

The CP School of Environmental study was not the sole victim of the ban and thus got support of all the private schools of Delhi. And so, aggrieved by the orders of DGT and Delhi government, the Action Committee for Unaided Recognized Private Schools, Delhi has filed a Writ petition in the Supreme court against the DGT ban and the Odd even formula order of Delhi government on following grounds:

- That taking the schools' own buses is violation of "Education Act which stipulates that school's assets cannot be put...to commercial use. The school buses are the assets of the schools and allowing them for use as commercial vehicles shall amount to violation of basic principles and provisions of DSEAR (Delhi School Education Act and Rules) 1973."
- That the insurance of school buses stipulate use of buses for students only. The school buses are not permitted to be used for general public nor should the school buses be used on hire"
- That the "road tax exemption also stipulates the buses shall not be used for any commercial purposes."
- That the Motor Vehicles Act prescribed a fitness test, and not the vehicle's age, to ascertain whether it should be allowed to ply or not. He also contended that the DGT could not substitute by its order what has been written in the Motor Vehicles Act, which did not put a ban on vehicles older than 5 years.
- That the lawyer further contended that such a ban is violation of Article 15(1) of the Constitution for the people of Delhi on the basis of their place of birth and raised the argument that it is not the College who is responsible for making Delhi, a gas chamber but it is the Fundamental duty of the people of our country under Article 51 a (g) to protect the environment and that the government should take some action against the people of Delhi.
